

Roots of Resilience: Disasters, Community, and Sustainability in Southern Italy

This interdisciplinary program is for students eager to engage with disaster risk and community sustainability in one of Europe's most hazard-prone regions. Hosted in collaboration with the Center for Disaster Resilient Communities and the Department of Environmental & Occupational Health Sciences, the course features research excursions and community engagement activities across Rome and Sicily, including to Mt. Etna, rural farms, and historic villages.

Info Sessions

December 11 @ 3pm on Zoom

January 8 @ 3pm on Zoom

Program Information

Summer A | June 22 - July 22, 2026

Instructors: Drs. Tania Busch Isaksen & Jamie Donatuto

Credits: 9

Application Deadline: January 31, 2026

Questions? Email tania@uw.edu or donatuto@uw.edu

SCAN HERE FOR MORE INFORMATION & TO
ACCESS THE INFO
SESSION ZOOM LINK